

News Release: Global Village Consulting Inc. Announces Licensing Agreement, Support Contract and Deployment of GVC.SiteMaker for Holland Christian Schools.

VANCOUVER, CANADA, June 23, 2003: Global Village Consulting Inc., a Vancouver based web application developer, today announced that Holland Christian Schools (HCS) has purchased a license for GVC.SiteMaker to aid them in creating websites for the Holland Christian Schools district in Holland Michigan. HCS opted to host the application on their own server but has contracted Global Village Consulting to provide them with Tier II level product support in order to receive application as well as server support for GVC.SiteMaker.

A current client user demonstrated GVC.SiteMaker in Detroit at the MACUL Technology Conference in March of this year. Here it was brought to the attention of Dan Vos and Tim Kamps of Holland Christian Schools. After testing the application, HCS determined that GVC.SM was the best option for them in creating and managing the websites for the various private School Board departments as well as those for individual schools. HCS is also planning to extend the usage of GVC.SiteMaker to teachers and possibly students.

Because of its design, GVC.SiteMaker enables users to turn their ideas and information into web sites easily and without much knowledge regarding the technical aspect of website creation or maintenance. It is designed to overcome barriers such as finding the right directory to deposit files, designing layouts and navigation tools, and making pages and files accessible to selected visitors. Thus, users of GVC.SiteMaker can create an impressive website without special tools or knowledge. But for added flexibility, users who are able to use such tools can apply their knowledge to the designing more sophisticated content within GVC.SiteMaker.
